A professor of philosophy once stood in front of his class with an empty glass jar. With his students watching, he filled the jar with rocks. Then he asked his students if the jar was full.

The response was in unison:

"Yes!"

Upon hearing this, the professor then told them they were wrong. He proved it by adding small pebbles to the jar's contents. He then raised the same question before.

"Is the jar full?"

Again, his students answered yes. To him, they confirmed the jar containing rocks and pebbles was full.

To this, the professor gave a similar response to what he said earlier. And to prove his students wrong once again, he added sand into the jar. Once he filled up the jar with sand, he asked his students "the" question:

"Is the jar full?"

And again, they answered it was full. But the professor once again informed them they were wrong.

This time, he didn't take out anything. Instead, he informed them of the point he was making.

He told them the jar was a metaphor for life. And the rocks, pebbles, and sand were also a metaphor for things that fill a person's life.

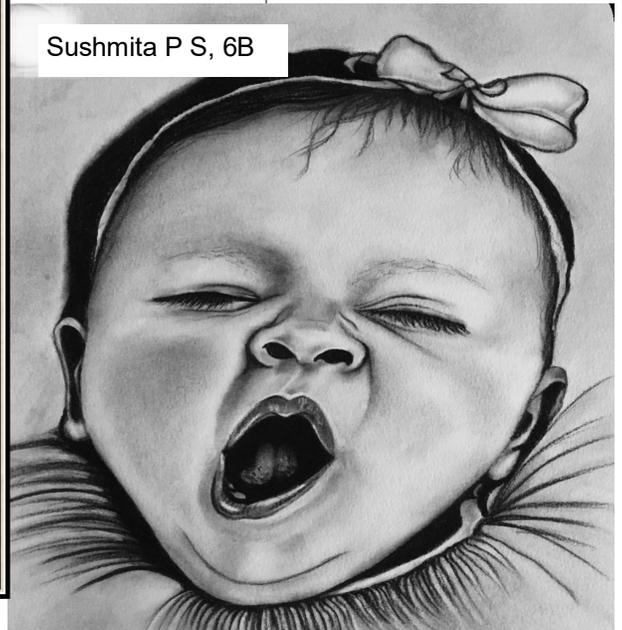

The rocks symbolize the most important things in a person's life. The rocks could be a person's loved ones and anything they hold dear. He then added these things should be a person's priority.

Meanwhile, he said, the pebbles and sand also represent things that also fill up your life. And while they mean a lot to you, they carry little weight. Compared to your rocks, they're replaceable.

Then the professor left with these words of wisdom:

"You can pour water into the jar. Any liquid will do. And this represents things that could fill up your life even more. But like the pebbles and sand, they're replaceable."

BLESSINGS AND CURSES

AT THE START OF 2020,

Students said, “ Wish I had no school”

Corona said, “ Take the year off with no school”

Kids said , “ Wish I had gadgets in hand”

Corona said, “ Take it all and you’ll regret”

Housewife said, “ Wish I had more family time”

Corona said, “ Take it all and enjoy your time”

Teacher said, “ Wish I had no corrections to make”

Corona said, “ Take it and learn a new way”

AT THE END OF 2020,

Corona says, “ I’m here to stay”

Students say, “ No more, let me go out to meet my friends”

Kids say, “No more, I need no gadgets, Iam bored”

Housewife says, “No more, Cant cook and clean whole day, Im fed up”

Teacher says, “No more, I’ve learnt all ways”

Who said COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS,

Bring more to it, COUNT YOUR CURSES TOO....

The Importance of Trust

Earlier today, I googled the word “trust.” It was a sobering experience. I was more than 20 pages into the results before meeting a single instance of trust in the sense of belief in something or someone. There were all types of financial trusts, businesses with “trust” in their names, companies eager to help you set up personal trusts, charitable trusts of every kind but nothing about putting your trust in anything or anyone. When I did find an entry relating to trust in this common sense, it was about mistrust; a psychiatrist offering help for people whose trust had been abused through infidelity or fraud!

Trust is fundamental to life. If you cannot trust in anything, life becomes intolerable—a constant battle against paranoia and looming disaster. You can't have relationships without trust, let alone good ones. Intimacy depends on it. I suspect more marriages are wrecked by lack of trust than by actual infidelity. The partner who can't trust the other not to betray him or her will either drive them away or force them into some real or assumed act of faithlessness.

In the workplace too, trust is essential. An organization without trust will be full of backstabbing, fear and paranoid suspicion. If you work for a boss who doesn't trust her people to do things right, you'll have a miserable time of it. She'll be checking up on you all the time, correcting “mistakes” and “oversights” and constantly reminding you to do this or that. Colleagues who don't trust one another will need to spend more time watching their backs than doing any useful work. The office politics would make Machiavelli blush.

Organizations are always trying to cut costs. Think of all the additional tasks that are caused directly by lack of trust. Audit departments only exist because of it. Companies keep voluminous records because they don't trust their suppliers, their contractors and their customers. Probably more than half of all administrative work is only there because of a pervasive sense that “you can't trust anyone these days.” If even a small part of such valueless work could be removed, the savings would run into millions of dollars.

Why Fear?

As we all know fear is a human emotion which is powerful and primitive. Fear is the threat of harm, real or unimagined. This Fear will be an impact on our physical, emotional or psychological well-being.

To overcome that fear, one should always have a mental toughness and confidence. If you don't that's all right, but we should develop it as soon as possible. We should never think it is impossible to develop it because in the word 'impossible' also we can find the word 'possible'.

For multiple reasons fear should be re-named to "inter-fear". After all, fear is constantly interfering with us in getting what we want in life.

Always remember that this 'fear' will always be there with us from the time we are born to our death. The fear of falling down when we are learning to walk, the fear of getting low marks in the school or college, the fear of society, the fear of our death or the fear of our life. We can say that fear is our companion throughout our life than anyone else, be it our parents or our friends.

Now the question arises how can we overcome this fear? How can we get rid of this companion? The answer to this question is, instead of getting rid of this fear why can't we keep it as our companion itself. You might ask why? But think, if we did not have this fear, were we never able to understand what is confidence. And if we had not understood what is confidence, we would have not achieved anything in our life.

As we all know that failure is the first step to success similarly, Fear Is just an emotion to learn the what is confidence.

Remember that confidence in yourself, the willingness to achieve and the experience will surely bring you the success which is always seen to your external world but the joy of overcoming the fear will always bring you joy to yourself, to your internal world and which the external world will never know what kind of joy it is !!

Let me share a short-humorous story

There once was this criminal who had committed a crime (Because, that's what criminals do. That's their job!) Anyway, he was sent to the king for his punishment. The king told him he had a choice of two punishments. He could be hung by a rope. Or take what's behind the big, dark, scary, mysterious iron door.

The criminal quickly decided on the rope. As the noose was being slipped on him, he turned to the king and asked: "By the way, out of curiosity, what's behind that door?"

The king laughed and said: "You know, it's funny, I offer everyone the same choice, and nearly everyone picks the rope." "So," said the criminal, "Tell me. What's behind the door? I mean, obviously, I won't tell anyone," he said, pointing to the noose around his neck.

The king paused then answered:

"Freedom, but it seems most people are so afraid of the unknown that they immediately take the rope."

"To many of us are not living our dreams because we are living our fears"

SMILE

HAPPINESS IS HERE,
 HAPPINESS IS THERE ,
 HAPPINESS IS SYNONYMOUS,
 HAPPINESS IS UBIQUITOUS.
 WHEN YOU GET HURT,
 OR YOU GO TO COURT.
 BUT WHEN YOU SMILE,
 EVERYTHING ENDS IN A MILE.
 HAPPINESS IS IN YOU,
 YOUR SADNESS BLEW.

WHEN YOUR WORKS OF SCHOOL ARE NOT PUBLISHED ,
 OR YOU LOST YOUR BAG AND GOT PUNISHED .
 DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY
 BUT YOU SHOULD ALWAYS TRY AND TRY.
 WHEN YOUR PARENTS SCOLD YOU,
 OR YOUR TEACHERS TO YOU,
 DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY
 BUT NEVER STEAL EVEN AN APPLE PIE.
 HAPPINESS IS IN YOU,
 YOUR SADNESS BLEW.

WHEN YOUR BEST FRIENDS DOES NOT TALK TO YOU,
 OR YOU THINK YOUR BROTHER'S WORDS WAS NOT TRUE.
 BUT YOU DON'T FEEL SAD FOR THESE THOUGHT FORGOTTEN ,
 WHEN YOU GROW UP ,THESE ARE COMMON AT AGE OF TEN.
 DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY, DON'T CRY,
 BUT YOU NEVER TRY TO FEEL SHY.
 HAPPINESS REALLY IS IN YOU ,
 IN MINUTES YOUR ANGRY HAD BLEW.

MY TOUR IN NORTH INDIA

I always wanted to visit north India since I studied about it, So, one day, my father and my mother took me there on 28th December 2019. First, we took an Indigo Flight from Bangalore to Chandigarh at morning 11:00 am. The flight duration was about 3 hrs. When we reached Chandigarh Airport, it was extremely cold, even when it was afternoon. It was so cold that the temperature dropped to 10C and when we spoke, our breathe came out in puffs of smoke. We stayed in a 5 star hotel. At night, we had to wear two layers of gloves and sweater, a muffler and beanie, socks and shoes. We also bought some clothes in the malls of Chandigarh. Early morning, we set out to our next destination, Shimla on the route of Kalka-Shimla Highway. We crossed many places like- Kalka, Kurukshetra, Sonapat, Barog, Solan and finally we reached Shimla. We travelled in 3 states- Punjab, Haryana and Himachal Pradesh. We had actually thought it would be snowing in Shimla. But, when we reached, it was 7C, but it was sunny and it didn't snow in Shimla. So, we extended our trip. We stayed in a hotel in a high altitude which was near the mall road. We stayed there for 2 days, shopping in the mall road, seeing the church and the Jakhoo Mandir in the mall road. The next day, we thought of going to a snow-area, so we went first to Kufri (which was 16 km from Shimla), but there was less snow. So we went further near the Manali and the China border-Narkanda which was very near to Baaghi. This place made us very happy as there was plenty of snow there. We started by making snow balls, but couldn't make proper snowballs and snowman as the snow was very hard. Next, we went to the skiing area, upon the hill, which was about 2700 m above sea level(approx). I skied very well as I had learnt skating. My father couldn't do it. We went across the hill for sight-seeing. Afterwards, when it was evening, we returned back to Shimla, rested one night and came back to Chandigarh. We had a flight back to Bangalore the next day. The next day, at 11:00 am, we had reached the Chandigarh airport and said good bye to everyone we met, including the city scenery. The flight was the Indigo company's special flight from Chandigarh to Bangalore for about 3 hrs. We reached Bangalore Airport (Hometown) at 3:00 in the afternoon. I would never forget this memory and would cherish it again. I wish that I could visit the place once again.
